Provides a due diligence defence for both you and operators who use you.

Gives you the ability to proactively 'market' your safety status to any nationality.

Gives you the opportunity to rectify any safety deficiencies and reduce incidents of injury, illness and death.

Improved safety also reduces your litigation and compensation.

Quality and Safety now go hand in hand.

Provides an excellent PR opportunity for those destinations who embrace customer safety first.

Third Party Health & Safety accreditation gives you the leading edge.

The newly launched docleafsafe™ system has been given tremendous support from the travel industry. Finally placing ultimate responsibility for due diligence into the hands of the overseas suppliers who quite rightly should control this.

You no longer have to endure multiple auditing by tour operators. In addition you will no longer require Tour Operator staff to advise you on Health & Safety issues.

The docleafsafe™ Health & Safety advisors are all trained to carry out professionally endorsed audits with the full backing of the Travel Industry.

You only require one annual audit at a very attractive cost. This provides you with a full report on your safety status and a certificate detailing your compliance on a Gold, Silver, Bronze rating. The audit information is posted on the docleafsafe website and made available to tour operators, providing them with due diligence comfort and piece of mind for their customers.

You too can make your safety status known on your website and advise potential customers of your pro-active stance in this area. Marketing on the web is definitely the way forward and tackling the sensitive issue of Health & Safety is a clear winner.

Increasingly, different markets are starting to focus on health, safety and hygiene issues in overseas resorts and you can now make this all very simple for them.
